Castro Issues Drastic Order for Personnel Cut

HAVANA (AP) — U.S.-Cuban relations grew more frayed today with a drastic order from Prime Minister Fidel Castro for a slash of the U.S. Embassy staff here to 11 by Wednesday night.

In a wrathful prelude to the U.N. Security Council meeting Wednesday, when Cuba will air new charges that the United States plans to invade Cuba, Castro declared the U.S. Embassy was filled with spies directing counter-revolutionaries.

High Post To McCloy Revealed

Gets Key Role In US Disarmament Administration

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican John J. McCloy, an old hand at dealing with the Soviets, will have a key role in the new Democratic administration's quest for nuclear disarmament.

President-elect John F. Kennedy Monday night announced appointment of McCloy, former Allied high commissioner in Germany, as director of the United States Disarmament Administration. In that field McCloy, 65, will be Kennedy's chief adviser and policy planner.

During the campaign Kennedy sharply criticized the Eisenhower administration for what he called insufficient effort toward working out a disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union. He pledged that if elected he would make "one last great effort."

McCloy is a man of wide experience in fields of law, banking and government. He was an assistant secretary of war in the Truman administration and recently resigned as board chairman of the Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York.

In a statement Kennedy said McCloy's "long interest in the subject of disarmament, his realistic approach to the key issues facing the world today will assure the United States of the ablest leadership in this critical field."

Lawmakers Set to Open 1961 Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Activity stirred the legislative floors of the capitol today as workmen got things ready for the opening of the 1961 legislature at noon Wednesday.

The first job for the 71st General Assembly will be to elect officers and get set for a session of six and a half months. Actual consideration of bills will end June 30 but final adjournment won't come until July 15 when all clerical chores are completed.

The adjournment date was changed from May 31 by a constitutional amendment approved by the voters last November. It also gave the lawmakers the right to set their own pay scale and a special session two weeks ago fixed the rate at $4,800 a year instead of the old $1,500.

Both houses will be operating under new leadership although Democrats continue in control.

Sen. Albert M. Spradling of Cape Girardeau will succeed Sen. Floyd R. Gibson of Independence as Senate president pro tem. Gibson will preside temporarily Wednesday since the state will have no lieutenant governor until the new one, Hilary Bush of Kansas City, is sworn in Monday.

Aiding Spradling in running the Senate will be Sen. John W. Joynt as majority floor leader, succeeding Sen. George Spencer of Columbia who ran for attorney general but lost in the primary.

In the House the new speaker will be Thomas D. Graham of Cole County, succeeding Richard H. Ichord of Texas County, the new congressman from the 8th District.

Rep. James G. Trimble of Clay County will be majority floor leader succeeding Warren E. (Please turn to page 3, column 7)

He said the U.S. staff would be reduced to the same number that Cuba maintains in its embassy in Washington.

Although the prime minister said he was not breaking relations with the United States, he invited the entire staff to leave Cuba.

"We are not breaking with them," he shouted. "If they want to go, let them go."

Thousands of Castro's followers massed in Civic Plaza roared their approval with shouts of "Cuba si, Yankees no" and with demands that the United States give up its naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

At the big glass-walled U.S. Embassy, Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock got his first word of the order to reduce the staff from 87 to 11 as he watched Castro on television.

Six months ago there were 120 on the staff. U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal was recalled last October and embassy wives and children were sent home last September. Cuba has not had an ambassador in Washington for months.

The embassy said it was awaiting official notification whether Castro's order meant to cut the staff to 11 persons in all or to 11 officials plus secretaries and other non-diplomatic personnel.

Entry Deadline For Baby Contest

Deadline for phoning in entries in The Democrat-Capitol First Baby Contest is midnight tonight.

Parents of babies born after midnight Saturday night, Dec. 31, are eligible to enter, providing they reside within Pettis county and the baby was born within the county.

Entries should be phoned to TA 6-1000. The first baby of the New Year will be announced in tomorrow's Democrat and Thursday's Capital.

Congress Opens Its 87th Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress convened today already embroiled in a liberal vs. conservative struggle such as clearly will be waged over much of President-elect John F. Kennedy's program.

In both Senate and House Democrats who call themselves liberals were bidding for a bigger voice in charting the legislative course to be followed in the next two years.

House insurgents want to break up a coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans on the Rules Committee which has managed in the past to block or delay legislation not to their liking.

In this project, they had the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. One possible move was reported to be a purge of Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee.

Reports were circulated that four Mississippi members of the House who failed to support the Democratic ticket last November may be disciplined.

The four are Colmer, Jamie Whitten, Arthur Winstead and John Bell Williams.

One member of Congress who declined to be quoted by name said that under present plans the four Mississippians are either to be removed from their committees or to have their committee seniority reduced.

In a party caucus, House Republicans apparently decided to wait and see what the Democrats do about the Rules Committee before taking a stand of their own.

9,000 Workers March on Capital

Police And Strikers Clash In Belgium Street Rallies

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Police and strikers clashed today in the streets of Brussels and in at least two other cities when demonstrators answered a Socialist-led union call for nationwide rallies.

State policemen mounted a saber charge to clear a Brussels square of demonstrators who had shouted insults at them.

They were part of a parade of 9,000 marchers in the capital's main streets.

Twelve civilians were hurt in Antwerp when police waded into a parade of 10,000 strikers who began smashing windows.

The Belgian state radio said tersely that at Tournai state police were overwhelmed. The broadcast gave no details of the trouble at Tournai.

Five thousand demonstrators at Liege smashed some store fronts. Miners at that industrial city of the German frontier threatened to flood the mines.

The new demonstrations against Premier Gaston Eyskens' austerity program were timed just ahead of the reopening of Parliament, which will resume debate on the proposals.

The strikers, entering their third week of protest, claim the proposed tax raises and cuts in social services will fall heaviest on the workers.

With the Socialists calling for mass demonstrations in every city of the country, soldiers were on duty at every strategic point. Power plants, railroads and public buildings all had their quota of khaki-uniformed men, determined to prevent sabotage.

The strike went on much as it has during the past weeks, with only part of the labor force heeding the Socialist call. Slightly less than half of the country's trade union membership is enrolled in the Socialist unions; the rest belong to Catholic unions who oppose the strike and call it a revolutionary attempt to overthrow Eyskens' Catholic-Conservative coalition.

In the nation's two major winter holiday periods, Christmas and New Year's, accidents have claimed the lives of more than 1,100 persons. Included were more than 800 killed in traffic accidents, counting 488 Christmas weekend. Fires killed 77 persons and 82 others lost their lives in various type of accidents during the Christmas holiday.

The motor vehicle death rate held a pace of five or more fatalities an hour during the daylight hours Monday but the pace slackened considerably during the night.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated the 340 death toll, said 310 persons would be killed during a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The actual count of death compared with a preholiday estimate by the National Safety Council that 340 lives might be lost in vehicle accidents during the long holiday weekend.

The count for the 78-hour holiday period ended at midnight Monday. At that time deaths in traffic accidents reported numbered 333. However, as in all major holiday traffic surveys, final figures are not reported for several hours after the midnight deadline.

The death rate eased during the closing hours of the long New Year weekend, apparently averting what safety experts feared would be a record for a three-day celebration of the holiday. The record toll was 374 traffic fatalities a year ago.

This New Year's holiday also was marred by scores of other accidental deaths, including 66 in fires and 78 in miscellaneous mishaps for an overall total of 482 deaths and 76 killed in miscellaneous accidents a year ago. The 1959-60 over-all total of 513 is a record for a 3-day New Year holiday.

Size of the Dilemma

The government of course has no intention of disclosing how many big hydrogen bombs we have stored against the prospect of war. But there is inevitable interest in the informed guess by Dr. Ralph Lapp, atomic scientist, that our backlog of bombs comes to around, 1,000.

When Lapp, a pioneer in U.S. atomic bomb development, made his estimate, he was thinking only of those weapons big enough to destroy a major city. And he pointed out that we probably have sufficient nuclear materials on hand to build another 50,000 H-bombs.

We must assume that Soviet experts have long since made the same kind of informed calculations that Lapp has done, and thus that Khrushchev understands thoroughly what would hit him if he struck first at us yet somehow failed to crush our power to retaliate.

If Lapp's estimate is anywhere close to accuracy, perhaps the most interesting thing about it is the "safety margin" our stockpile seems to provide.

Obviously there are not 1,000 big cities on earth that are worth wiping out for military purposes. Indeed, less than a dozen H-bombs might prove decisive in a nuclear war—if they could be delivered successfully over the proper Soviet targets.

GOP Pays $40,000 to Asthma Firm

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Lists of campaign expenses are dull as dishwater, but in the innocuous list of Republican Senate Campaign Committee expenses is $4,000 a month paid to the S. and K. Laboratories of Phoenix, Ariz., which manufactures a remedy for Asthma called "Adreno-Mist."

Although a good many Republican politicians were puffing and wheezing during the recent campaign as if they had Asthma, $4,000 a month would seem too much to pay for an Asthma remedy. So this column investigated.

It seemed curious that the Chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, Barry Goldwater, who comes from Phoenix, should be paying this much money to a Phoenix Drug firm.

Owner of S. and K. Laboratories is Stephen Shadegg, a former Hollywood writer of mystery stories. When my associate, Jack Anderson, telephoned Shadegg to ask why the Republican Senate Committee in Washington was paying him $4,000 a month for an Asthma remedy in Arizona, Shadegg replied:

"I don't think that is any of your business." "If that is your answer," said Anderson, "I'll be glad to quote you."

Shadegg reconsidered. Apparently he realized that money spent by any political campaign committee has to be registered with the Congress and is, therefore, a matter for public scrutiny.

"I am a consultant to the Senatorial Campaign Committee," Shadegg finally explained. "Then why do the payments go to your firm?" Anderson asked.

Shadegg assured Anderson that the Republicans had not been buying Adreno-Mist. The $4,000 a month, though paid to his firm, had gone to his own pocket. He had some difficulty explaining why the fee was paid to his firm instead of to him directly, but insisted he had earned every cent.

"The payments cover my work, expenses, travel—all sorts of things," he said. "The laboratory has been paying my expenses and salary. I have been drawing no salary from the Company."

"You mean the Campaign Committee paid your firm, then the firm paid you for your political services and expenses?" Anderson asked.

"Yes," Shadegg agreed. Shadegg happened to have been a writer of B-grade movies in Hollywood before he came to Arizona, and it was reported in

Guest Editorial

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: The Mature Worker Proves His Value. — Not long ago there was widespread concern over finding fair and suitable employment opportunities for workers over the age of 40. Now a report from the National Association of Manufacturers says that workers in the 45 to 65 age bracket are obtaining jobs more easily than they did a few years ago.

This welcome change apparently stems not from just one but a series of causes. "Employers increasingly are realizing," says the report, "that the worker between 45 and 65 is frequently in his best years because of knowledge and judgment gained through his experience. The development of machinery to replace strenuous physical effort has made possible the retention and hiring of workers in jobs that would have been beyond their strength a few years ago."

Employers find that though older employees may not work as fast as younger ones and may resist change of methods, they stay on the job more steadily, are more careful, have better safety records, have patience and thoroughness, and in many cases can outproduce younger workers.

The pension hurdle, which once seemed serious, is no longer an obstacle in a majority of leading companies, according to a survey. Age levels are found to have only a slight effect on group insurance costs. Social security payments help. Some employees have pension rights from former jobs. Some can be compensated in other ways if hired without inclusion in a company pension plan.

In short, a problem that at one stage seemed almost insurmountable has begun to yield to the application of thought. Still more thought is required, not only by employers but also by employees who need to develop adaptability. But ways are being found to make use of important human resources, and the NAM anticipates that the demand for older workers will even increase.

Certainly, awareness of our tremendous H-bomb backlog and our additional nuclear weapons potential must be the big thing which gives the Russians pause today. It can hardly be a comfort to them to know that their country could be substantially ruined by 12 bombs, even though they might earlier, in a surprise attack, have demolished 988 others we held in reserve.

We cannot forget, on the other hand, that a relative handful of H-bombs delivered from Russia could also inflict colossal damage on the United States. Successful retaliation would be small compensation for gazing upon the ruin of our great cities.

Dr. Lapp's estimate underscores afresh the need to search urgently for some sort of disarmament agreement, embracing all present and possibly future nuclear powers.

Whether the bombs in the racks total 50 or 50,000, they should never move from there except to be transferred from the stockpile to the junk pile.

The world must hope fervently that this will happen before even one is delivered over a target. With new nations threatening to gain the nuclear weapon, time may be running against us.

Arizona that he was hired by Goldwater to write his best-selling book "Conscience of a Conservative," and that the Republican Senate Committee was actually paying Shadegg $4,000 a month to serve as Goldwater's ghost writer.

This, however, Shadegg vigorously denied. He insisted he had written "three hundred pages of campaign memos." Asked again why the money wasn't paid to him direct, why it was necessary for the $4,000 a month to go through his firm, Shadegg mumbled something about "bookkeeping."

Shadegg rambled on about other things, including a lament that his political activities had taken him away from his business of manufacturing mouth spray.

For neglecting the battle against Asthma, however, the Republicans paid him around $4,000 a month or a total of $40,000. On top of this, his friend Barry Goldwater made him Republican chairman of Arizona.

It's an interesting political alliance—all revealed by digging through dull lists of campaign expenditures.

The Cabinet's Religion

During the recent election, a Missouri Republican committeewoman delivered absentee ballots to old people in her area, informed that if Kennedy was elected he would appoint all Roman Catholics to his cabinet. A lot of regular Democrats, voting by absentee ballots delivered by Mrs. Crackenberg, switched their votes to Nixon.

Here is the religion of the Kennedy cabinet as finally appointed: 1 Catholic; 2 Presbyterians; 2 Methodist; 1 Lutheran; 1 Mormon; 2 Jews and 1 former Jew, now an Episcopalian. The rollcall by religion follows:

Catholic—Bobby Kennedy, the Attorney General.

Presbyterians—Dean Rusk, Secretary of State; Robert McNamara, Secretary of Defense.

Methodist—J. Edward Day, Postmaster General; Luther Hodges, Secretary of Commerce.

Jews—Arthur Goldberg, Secretary of Labor; Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare; Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury, whose family was Jewish but who is now an Episcopalian.

Mormon—Stuart Udall, Secretary of the Interior.

Lutheran—Orville Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture.

Think It Through

NO MORE PLATFORMS—Senator Dodd of Connecticut claims that political parties should do away with campaign platforms, or at least that they be considered as advisory only.

The Democratic Party's platform in 1860 was 410 words long. A century later, in pamphlet form, it was 55 pages long, and contained 18,500 words. It was not even read aloud. The delegates just "adopted" it.

The platform chairman, Chester Bowles, is no doubt very proud of his masterpiece, and could probably pass an examination on it. Who else knows what is in it, every page of it? Did you read it?

In view of the fact that one of its planks proposed to wipe out all laws requiring people to be able to read, in order to vote, it would appear that literacy is no longer considered important!

The GOP masterpiece was nearly, if not quiet, as bad.

But aside from the length and dreariness of modern platforms, Senator Dodd argues that it is practical nonsense to assert that they are entitled to be considered as policy statements binding on party members in the White House and Congress.

Written to pick up the votes of pressure blocs and adopted in a circus atmosphere of noise, sweat, smoke and whiskey by delegates who, as such, hold no public office, why, asks the Senator, should they bind public officials who are responsible to every citizen? Right, or wrong?

Ex-Presidents Will Have Nothing to Do

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will have three ex-presidents and three former vice presidents—but will probably find little or nothing for them to do — when Dwight D. Eisenhower steps out of the White House Jan. 20.

The three former presidents—Eisenhower, 70, Truman, 76, and Hoover, 86—have had vast governmental experience.

Self-Condernation Often Barbs Criticism by Others

The note, delivered by Rod and signed by his teacher says: "Rodman was tardy again this morning—the third time in two weeks. One of this school's regulations is that children report promptly to home rooms every morning. I suggest that Rodman be awakened earlier in order to comply with it."

After reading the note we tell Rod to go change his school pants. Then, while peeling a potato, we think savagely:

"What a nerve that Miss Gray's got! Who does she think she is to tell me how to raise my own child?"

It is impossible for us to think: "Miss Gray's got something here. Rod should get up earlier to get to school on time. Now I realize that he's been going to bed at summer vacation bedtime. That's why he has been so hard to wake up in the morning. We'd better establish an earlier bedtime and cut out that TV Western he's been staying up to see."

It is impossible for us to respond with anything but anger to Miss Gray's suggestion because we are mothers who must contain all the answers themselves.

So Miss Gray's casual hint that we've been remiss in permitting Rod's tardiness cannot be casual

The Doctor Says

Mothers-to-Be Can Prevent Onset of Varicose Veins

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

At the beginning of first pregnancy, the prospective mother often is too preoccupied with major considerations to give serious thought to the problem of varicose veins. Yet this relatively minor complication may provoke prolonged distress by its unsightliness and by its tendency to produce leg weariness and cramps, inflammation of the vein wall (phlebitis) and ulceration of overlying skin (varicose ulcer).

Perhaps the following summary of our knowledge of the varicose veins of pregnancy will stimulate young women to undertake the preventive program, later described in detail: The varicosities of pregnancy usually appear as multiple "blow-outs," some time during the first three months of the pregnancy. They may produce a painless discoloration of the skin. But if they enlarge and there is complicating phlebitis or ulceration, they may then give rise to leg weariness, localized pain and cramps. Pregnancy varicosities tend to become smaller and may even disappear after the baby is born. But, with each subsequent pregnancy, they are apt to appear earlier, enlarge more considerably and produce increasing discomfort.

If treated by injection or operation during the pregnancy, the results are not apt to be satisfactory. Furthermore, the occasional reaction that follows injection treatment may have an unfavorable effect on mother or child.

Here are some of the relatively simple measures that may be undertaken to prevent the trouble and expense incidental to the varicosities of pregnancy:

Wear supportive elastic stockings as soon as the presence of the pregnancy is made known. Put on the stockings while lying flat in bed with legs elevated. Keep them on when you go to the delivery room. And continue to wear them for at least a few weeks after childbirth.

As soon as your tummy begins to protrude, wear a snug supportive corset.

If it is necessary to remain seated for any considerable length

It has been argued the country could well use that experience. That's debatable.

President Kennedy almost certainly won't call on the three former vice presidents: Richard M. Nixon, 47; Henry Wallace, 72; and John Nance Garner, 92. His reasons in each case would be different.

Kennedy, a practical politician who may be looking for reelection in 1964, is not likely to build up the prestige of Nixon, who ran against him in 1960 and may run again.

Wallace, who served one term under President Roosevelt, has been unattractive to Democrats since he broke with them in 1948 to run on the Progressive ticket for president against Truman.

Garner, too old for strenuous activity, has been out of the political picture since 1941 when he retired to his Texas farm after two terms under Roosevelt.

Both Truman and Eisenhower used Hoover to head commissions for reorganizing the government. Both men got on well with him. But neither assignment required any advice from Hoover on broad White House problems.

Eisenhower not only made no use of Truman, who blasted him in the 1952 presidential campaign, but carefully avoided any contact with him.

Kennedy may ask Eisenhower to undertake some goodwill missions abroad. But he can hardly ask advice from the man whose two administrations he called inept.

It is doubtful, because of Hoover's advanced age, that Kennedy will want to burden him anymore.

As for Truman—Kennedy has no particular reason to love the man from Missouri.

Truman rooted for him in the later stages of the 1960 campaign. But the former president tried to wreck Kennedy's White House chances before the Democratic convention.

Still there's the question: Shouldn't some way be found to use the experience of ex-presidents? There has been a suggestion that they should automatically become Senators.

They would have no vote but could speak their minds since they would have insight into government which the experience of no senator could match.

Nothing ever came of this notion.

There are arguments on the other side: that when a man becomes an ex-president the nation should thank him for his services but say goodbye to his opinion.

By putting a two-term limit on the presidency, the nation has shown it wants a limit on the guidance of any one man.

Further, an ex-president may be, and probably is, miles apart from the new president's thinking.

It is questionable whether an ex-president, generally well along in years before he steps out, is still flexible enough to change a lifetime's thinking to meet situations different from those he encountered.

of time, do not cross your legs but try to keep them elevated on a chair or a cushion. If this is impractical, get up frequently and walk up and down for a few moments. If this too is impractical, exercise the calf muscle while in the sitting position by alternately raising heel and toe from the floor.

Finally, some months after childbirth and before the beginning of the next pregnancy, consider active treatment by injection or operation, particularly if there are persistent symptoms or if you suffered a localized phlebitis or varicose ulceration. Then, immediately at the onset of the next pregnancy, resume wearing the supportive elastic stockings.

Right Now Is Good Time To Shop for a House

By FAYE HENLE

Fortunes have been made and bargains picked up by those who have had the courage to go against the crowd.

Spring traditionally is the time for house buying. The seller spruces up his lawn and slaps a new coat of paint over his cottage, and the development builder furnishes his "model house." You and millions of others get into the car and hunt.

But right this minute business in the housing market is poor. If you need a house, this could be a good time to buy.

Prices on older homes have softened. The development builder is eager to move inventory so that come spring, he can start another project. More money for housing at cheaper prices is available now than has been true in the past two years and mortgage costs may slide.

Fewer people hunt houses at this season, meaning you'll be running into less competition.

If you are about to become a homeowner for the first time you should know:

What costs are involved in owning a house.

How much, based on current and anticipated income, you should pay.

Initiate the 'Jackie Look' Be in Style Next Few Years

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to Men:

If you want to know what your wife is going to look like during the next few years take a good, long look at Jackie Kennedy.

The First Lady-to-be is a style-setter and I have a hunch that Mrs. America en masse is going to be following in her fashion footsteps as long as Jackie resides in the White House.

Mrs. Kennedy proved herself a

The mechanics of buying and maintaining the home mortgage. The answers to these key questions are contained in a booklet prepared by the American Bankers Association called "You Your Bank and Your Mortgage." It stresses:

Low middle income families should generally pay no more than 2½ times their pre-tax annual income for a home.

The monthly carrying charges on your home will include amortization, property taxes, insurance and upkeep. These four items should not exceed one week's take-home pay each month.

You'll need more cash than the down payment to become the owner of a house. A ceremony called a "closing" takes place each time a house exchanges owners.

Assume you are buying a $20,000 house involving $12,000 of borrowed money. You'll need almost $500 or more extra before the house is yours.

Here's the ABA breakdown of typical expenses:

Legal fees could come to $200, recording fees $9.30, property survey and appraisal $45, with $107 going toward mortgage and title policy fee. Additionally, you should pay three months' taxes estimated at $105, plus $22 interest and $9.80 for hazard insurance premiums.

fashion leader, instead of a follower, when she sweetly refused to turn herself into the First Lady image when her husband was running for president. She didn't alter her controversial coiffure, drop a hemline, or purchase a single clubwoman-type outfit in order to look more like a main street matron and less like a care free college girl.

To know what an impact the beautiful Mrs. Kennedy has already had on the fashion world all you need to do is glance through a fashion magazine and see how many of the current models have the Jackie Kennedy look.

Now that the new First Lady has won the battle to be herself and to be a pace setter instead of a fashion follower, you can bet your bottom dollar that Mrs. America is going to follow Mrs. Kennedy's fashion leads.

All over the country women will be imitating her hairdo, copying her clothes and trying to achieve her air of careless, unconcerned elegance.

Just thought I'd better explain what's happening and why, in case your wife starts throwing out her matronly looking little flowered hats and her "basic black dresses" and turns a jaundiced eye on the fur stole she once thought she couldn't live without—in favor of a younger, gayer, more colorful and casual-looking wardrobe.

Six months from now the "new look" will be the young "Jackie" look. And women of all ages will be doing everything possible to achieve it.

Civil War Came Because Democracy Was Not Used

EDITOR'S NOTE: Next Sunday Americans begin the commemoration of the great war that rent the Union a century ago. Was this actually an "irrepressible conflict" or a tragedy of errors that could have been avoided? In the first of a four-part series adapted from an address delivered before The Associated Press Managing Editors convention, one of the nation's leading Civil War historians discusses that question and its meaning for Americans today.

By BRUCE CATTION
Written For The Associated Press
It is sometimes said that the Civil War came because the machinery of democracy had broken down. That is not quite true. It came because the machinery of democracy was not used.

To see how this happened, go back one century to the presidential election of 1860. An enormous issue disturbed America's democracy in that year. Like most issues human beings have to handle it was extremely complicated and its deeper implications were not always clear, but in the main it had to do with the existence in America of the institution of chattel slavery. There were of course other issues in that year, but in one way or another they all seemed to revolve around this question of slavery.

There was no unanimity of feeling, because the institution itself affected different people in such different ways. In the cotton states of the Deep South slavery in 1860 was a going concern, immensely profitable to a small but powerful group, but, dressed by all sorts of prejudices and habits of mind, an institution, furthermore, that was so deeply imbedded in the social and economic framework of the cotton South that no one could see how to get rid of it without causing a shattering convulsion.

In the more northerly tier of southern states slavery was slowly but visibly withering on the vine. It was still something everyone was adjusted to, and people tended to approach it with their emotions rather than with their minds, but it was not quite the same here as in the Deep South.

North of the Mason and Dixon line slavery had been discarded altogether, and more and more people were coming to feel that it ought to be abolished everywhere as speedily as possible. Sentiment was by no means united, however; there were many people in the North who disliked slavery but were perfectly willing to go along with it on the ground that it was really a problem for the South.

For a long time this slavery problem had seemed too hot to handle, and consequently it had not been handled. Yet there was not necessarily anything to it, in the spring of 1860, that would force the different states of the Union to go to war with one another—nothing that would compel 600,000 young men to die before the nation could come to a final decision about it.

As a matter of fact, this issue was peripheral even in 1860. The big argument centered on the question of slavery in the territories. Not even the Republicans argued that the federal government had any authority to limit or abolish the institution in the separate states.

The whole problem revolved around the territorial issue—and it was already becoming obvious that slavery was not going to put down lasting roots in the territories no matter what the federal government might do. Never did the American people get so worked up over a problem as remote as this.

We can easily see that slavery could not have been uprooted overnight from the states where it was central to the social and political organization—not without an upset too fundamental for the society to bear. We can see just as clearly that in the very nature of things slavery was a doomed institution. It could not endure very much longer in the developing 19th century.

Furthermore, in April of 1860 all of the machinery of the democracy was at hand, ready to be used. The Democratic party was about to hold its presidential nominating convention; a little later, the Republican party was going to do the same. After the campaign itself, in which nominees, party workers and newspaper pundits could examine the issue in detail. Then there would be an election and the people themselves would render some sort of verdict. Then there would be a new president and a new Congress, presumably, they would be able to provide some sort of solution.

The opportunity and the means to get the nation's tragic fix existed. Unfortunately, they were not used. In this one instance, democracy failed to meet the test. Instead of working for

Brush Up Your Income Tax

By Richard A. Mullens
Written For Newspaper
Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — With the Christmas mail rush past, you can expect a federal income tax form in the mail any day.

This means it is time to start thinking about tax deadlines. The 15th — the due date for all individual income tax returns for 1960.

To help you meet the April 15th deadline, this newspaper, later will bring you NEA's 20th annual Income Tax Primer. The Primer has a series of articles explaining questions which puzzle the average taxpayer. Each article will have questions and answers on problems of interest to most taxpayers and illustrations of what to do when you are faced with filling out your return.

For some taxpayers, however, Jan. 17, is an important date. Those of you who filed a declaration of estimated tax (Form 1040-ES) for 1960 should pay the last installment due thereon by Jan. 17th.

The District Director of Internal Revenue will send you a bill for the last installment. Before paying it, make a rough computation of your 1960 income tax. If your payments of estimated tax, including the last installment, for 1960 plus any tax withheld from your income will be less than 70 per cent (66-2/3 per cent if you are a farmer) of your 1960 tax, you should file an amended declaration of estimated tax and increase the payment of the last installment so as to exceed the percentage shown above by a comfortable margin.

An amended declaration of estimated tax can be filed by using the reverse side of the bill received from the district director. Unless your estimated tax payments and withheld tax exceed the above percentages of your 1960 income tax, you may be subject to a 6 per cent penalty for underpaying your estimated tax. The penalty is not applicable if your estimated tax payments plus tax withheld are equal to or more than either:

(1) The final tax shown on your 1959 return, or

(2) A tax computed by using your 1959 income and your exemptions for 1960.

There is a way to postpone the Jan. 17 deadline. If you file 7 days before the 1960 or before Feb. 1, 1961 (Feb. 15, 1961), if a settlement it worked for a show-down—when, within a year, it got at a staggering price. The reasons for its failure are extremely complex, but one of the principal ones seems to have been, quite simply, that it was just too much trouble for the ordinary American in 1860 to sit down and think things through.

It was easier just to feel—to respond to inspiring slogans, to turn motions loose, to let anger and fear and suspicion have their way, to settle down in a fixed position and wait for the other fellow to back down. Politics lost to flexibility. The willingness to debate, to negotiate and at last find some good middle ground disappeared.

Trains Running Again Following Big Derailment

CARL JUNCTION, Mo. (AP)—Mainline trains of the Kansas City Southern were moving over their tracks again today.

A section of the line eight miles northwest of Carl Junction, blocked by a derailment, explosion and fire since New Year's Eve, was cleared Monday.

Three farm families returned to their homes near the derailment scene. One of the 29 derailed freight cars still smoldered Monday, but railroad officials said the danger was over.

State highway M71 was reopened to vehicular traffic and trackside communications were restored. Damage was estimated at approximately $300,000.

Ladies Battle Heatedly Over Parking Space

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Parking space was scarce in midtown Kansas City Monday night, and the Gerald Oppenheims had to park their car a long walk from where they were going.

Mrs. Oppenheimer saw an empty space closer and told her husband to go back and get the car while she guarded it.

She waved one car off, but another insisted on driving in. "I turned my back," Mrs. Oppenheimer said. "I heard a car door slam and the next thing I knew this woman was hitting me."

There was some hair-pulling and scratching.

Oppenheimer drove up and separated the women. As he did so, he told police, the other car, driven by the second woman's husband, pulled in the space.

Mrs. Oppenheimer, 43, and the other woman, identified as Mrs. Walter D. Faler Jr., 41, were booked on cross complaints of disturbing the peace. Each was released on $25 bond pending appearance in municipal court Wednesday.

Mrs. Faler declined comment. "I think this is a matter for the court to decide," she said.

Frustration At an End For Missouri

Hot Tigers Keep Bellino to Ground In Orange Bowl

MIAMI (AP)—Twenty-one years of football frustration, during which it sent six teams on fruitless excursions to bowl games, were at an end for Missouri today.

The Big Eight champions rolled back a spirited Navy team 21-14 in the Orange Bowl Monday as President-elect John F. Kennedy, an ex-Navy PT boat commander, looked on with 71,217 other spectators and tried hard not to be partial.

It was a victory of crushing offensive power and an alert defense. The Middles' two touchdowns came on plays bordering on the fantastic.

So impregnable was the Tiger barrier against running plays that Navy wound up with a net minus 80 yards rushing. Its all-American back, Joe Bellino, had only four yards in eight carries, although he provided one of the major thrills with his end zone catch of a 27-yard pass from Hal Spooner for the second Middle touchdown.

The first quarter provided two startling plays on which the teams swapped touchdowns at the precise moment it appeared the other team was about to score.

The second time Missouri got the ball, it drove from its 28 to a yard and a half of the Navy goal. Then Donnie Smith took the ball and started to his left. There was a sudden mass of bodies, and abruptly Navy's Greg Mather emerged with the ball.

Mather sprinted 98 yards untouched for a touchdown. Smith, when hit, had tried to lateral, and Mather intercepted the toss.

The perked-up Middles tried an on-side kickoff. Tackle Sid Driscoll recovered the ball on the Missouri 48 when it was fumbled by Missouri tackle Rockne Calhoun.

Spooner passed to Jim Luper and then to Bellino, who lateraled to Joe Matalavage for a 17-yard gain to the Missouri 18.

Then the Tigers fired a Roman candle. Norm Beal intercepted Spooner's pass on the 10 and sprinted 90 yards for a touchdown, with Missouri blockers knocking over defenders like tenpins.

An 80-yard power drive at the start of the second quarter gave Missouri its second touchdown as the Navy offense was thwarted at every turn by the charging Missouri linemen. Donnie Smith went four yards for the score.

Missouri opened the fourth period with a 64-yard touchdown march on which Ron Taylor tallied on a quarterback sneak. Bill Tobin made his third conversion—his 25th in a row—to put the Tigers ahead 21-6.

Bellino's great catch followed and the gambling Middles went for two points successfully.

The president-elect leaped to his feet and cheered lustily as the Middles scored their first spectacular touchdown. He also applauded when the Tigers came back with their equally-sensational score.

Navy Coach Wayne Hardin took the defeat in good grace. "They were too strong for us today," he said.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine, grinning wetly after being tossed under the shower by his players, lauded the Middles.

"It was a doggone tough game," he said. "Navy was very alert. I was sure we could stop Bellino. . . he's a great player, but we're a great team. Bellino's catch was the greatest I've ever seen. Only he could have made it."

Mel West was the workhorse of the Missouri ground game. He rolled up a net of 108 yards in 21 carries as the Tigers stampeaded for a net total of 296 yards and 18 first downs. Seven of Navy's nine first downs were on passes, on which they gained 176 yards.

Sharpen Up

Auburn Tigers Push for Title

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer Coach Joel Eaves' Auburn Tigers, a dead-eye bunch that counts it a bad game unless half their shots connect, are sharpened to a peak for the long push toward another Southeastern Conference basketball championship.

The Tigers, who swept to the SEC crown last season by winning their last nine games behind blistering accuracy, ran their two-season streak to 15 Monday night with a 76-50 breeze over Florence State.

It was the 36th straight home triumph and the last warm-up for the Tigers, who get down to the business of defending their conference championship Saturday against Mississippi State. They did it with the "make-each-shot-count" formula that Eaves has preached since he took the Auburn controls. Auburn blended another balanced attack, with Ray Groover and Dave Vaughn each scoring 18 points and Jimmy Fibbe adding 15.

Now 6-0 for the 1960-61 campaign, the 10th-ranked Tigers have back five of the top seven men who led them to a 19-3 season a year ago and led the nation in field goal accuracy with 52.1 per cent and free throw accuracy with 77.2 per cent.

Auburn's sixth triumph of the new season came on a relatively slim night on the college boards.

Wilt Makes Biggest Single Game Score

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia has come up with his biggest point production in a single league game this season, 56.

After the sparkling performance Monday night in which he bucketed 23 field goals in 37 attempts and 10 of 20 free throws in leading the Warriors to a 131-115 victory over New York, Chamberlain said it wasn't his best game of the season. The victory left Philadelphia only one game behind eastern division leader Boston.

Elgin Baylor hit for 42 points in Los Angeles' 123-113 victory over Detroit in the opener of the doubleheader.

Oscar Robertson scored 42 points, as his Cincinnati Royals beat Syracuse 126-125 at Utica, N.Y., on two free throws the Big O sank with 27 seconds left.

Take Rose Bowl Game In An Upset

Second Team Ever To Succeed Itself In Football Classic

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer Washington's Huskies are the toast of the football world for the second consecutive year today after winning the Rose Bowl game with a sparkling display of all-around excellence against national champion Minnesota.

The Huskies, who last year swamped Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-8 and astounded just about everyone outside the state of Washington, zipped past the Gophers Monday 17-7 to become the second team ever to succeed itself as Rose Bowl champion.

Not to be outdone in heroics was a solid 21-14 victory by Missouri over Navy, which included holding All America back Joe Bellino to only four yards rushing. Duke answered critics of its selection as a Cotton Bowl participant by upsetting Arkansas 7-6 while Mississippi struck fast and had enough defensively to hold off pesky Rice and win the Sugar Bowl 14-6 as nearly 400,000 watched the four games in person and millions more saw them on television.

The Huskies used the same cast of characters who appeared in the Wisconsin debacle last Jan. 1. Quarterback Bob Schloredt, back for the first time since breaking a collarbone last Oct. 15, halfbacks Don McKeta and George Fleming and fullback Ray Jackson led the Washington attack. Center Roy McKasson and tackles Kurt Geger and Barry Bullard stood their ground against a heavier Minnesota line.

Schloredt, the first player ever to be chosen most valuable player twice in a row in Rose Bowl history, passed three yards to Brent Wooten for one score and got another on a quarterback sneak, setting up the latter with a 31-yard run.

The 1959 All America ran five times for 68 yards, completed two of four passes for 16 and a touchdown and had a 41.2 punting average.

"My highest hopes (for a good performance) were nothing compared with the job Schloredt did out there today," Coach Jim Owens said afterward.

McKeta's two key defensive plays against Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens deep in Washington territory also were key factors. He threw him for a 13-yard loss on a third-down play at the Huskies' 6 and then on the next play intercepted his pass on the goal line.

Fleming kicked a record (school and Rose Bowl) 44-yard field goal and gave the Minnesota defense fits with his outside running as Washington piled up a 17-0 half-time lead before 97,314.

For Third Week

Ohio State Tops Cage Press Poll

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State, the defending national champion, stayed at the top of the weekly Associated Press basketball rating today. What's more the Buckeyes scored the maximum number of points for the third straight week.

Of the 36 votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters across the country who vote in the poll, every one had Ohio State at the top. That gave the Buckeyes 360 points.

The Ohio State sweep was hardly unexpected. Jerry Lucas and Co. won the Holiday Festival in New York last week and in the process dumped St. John's and St. Bonaventure, both of which had been undefeated. That made Ohio State's record 9-0.

Bradley stayed in second place, but lost 15 points in the process. The Braves have a 10-0 mark and collected 304 points on the usual system of 10 points for first, 9 for second and so on down the line.

St. Bonaventure, which gave a good account of itself in dropping an 84-82 decision to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival final, remained in third place with 264 votes.

Past the big three, though, there was a wholesale shakeup. Three members of the top 10 a week ago—Indiana, St. Louis and Auburn—dropped out. Indiana took the most emphatic nosedive spiralling all the way down from fourth. North Carolina, which won the Dixie Classic by knocking Duke from the undefeated list, made the biggest jump, right up to sixth place.

The leaders with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (36) 360
2. Bradley 304
3. St. Bonaventure 264
4. Louisville 225
5. St. John's N. Y. 165
6. North Carolina 158
7. Iowa 110
8. Duke 76
9. UCLA 65
10. Auburn 51

Others receiving votes included: St. Louis, Indiana, Kansas State, Drake, USC, Wichita, Detroit, Vanderbilt, Kansas, Memphis State, Utah, West Virginia, Kentucky, Seton Hall, Virginia Tech, California, North Carolina State, Duquesne, San Francisco, DePaul.

Jake Gibbs Makes Big Difference

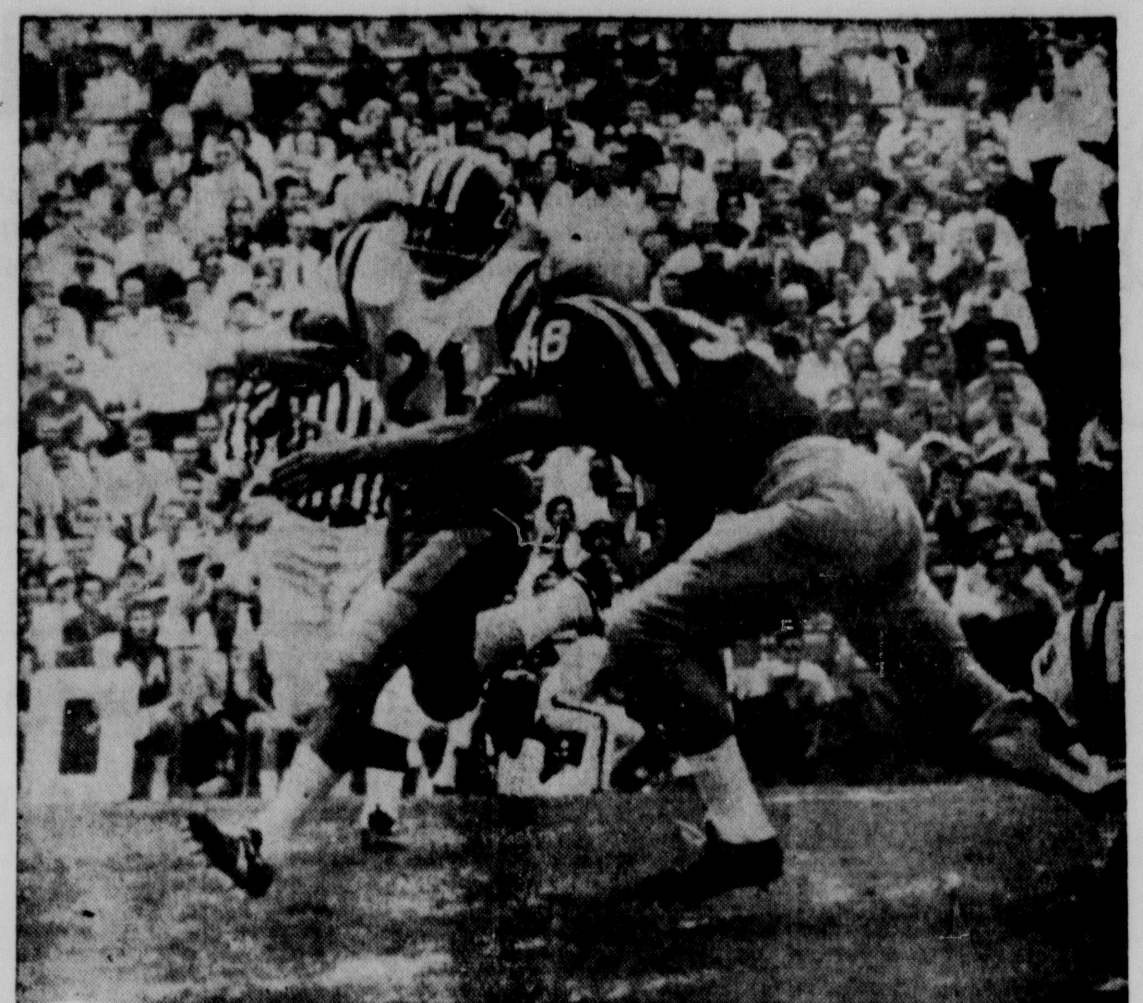

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mathematicians will tell you there's no difference between one and one. But such reasoning could hardly apply to Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs, the big difference in a 14-6 Rebel victory over Rice in the Sugar Bowl.

Gibbs earned All-America honors for his brilliant performance during the regular season when he guided the Rebels to a spot just behind Minnesota for the national football title.

The game was less than five minutes old when Gibbs circled left end for the first Mississippi touchdown. There were 11 minutes left in the game when he went over from the 3 for the second Rebel tally.

In between, the game was largely defensive with Mississippi thwarting three Rice drives, but the Owls did puncture the barriers for a third-quarter scoring march.

"We knew Gibbs was tough, and he was," said Rice Coach Jess Neely after the game. "If we hadn't let 'em get that first one so easy it might have been a different story."

Cal Tech Subs For Huskies In Rooters' Cards

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Did you wonder what happened to Washington's spelled-out card tricks in their rooters' section at the Rose Bowl?

Many a TV viewer must have been puzzled, as were some of the spectators, when, instead of "Huskies," the cards spelled "Cal Tech."

A couple of other half-time card displays didn't go according to plan, either.

Two students at the California Institute of Technology here owned up later that it was a prank. A number of their fellow students were involved in the complicated plot, they said.

The Cal Tech perpetrators said they got samples of the instruction cards to be attached to the backs of Washington rooters' seats. Then they had 2,322 spurious cards printed. Last Saturday, while the Huskies were visiting Disneyland, the plotters got into the quarters of Washington's head cheerleader and substituted the forged cards for the originals.

A husky design of an Eskimo dog's head came out as a beaver's head, Cal Tech's insignia. Then "Huskies" appeared in reverse spelling. Just good clean fun, said the jokesters.

London Strippers Big Stars In Their Line of Business

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — Every night one thousand girls simultaneously peel off their clothes in London's sordid night clubs.

There are more than 200 of these clubs in central London alone and many of the girls who work there cover several night spots on a circuit. They barely have time to drag on their sweaters and scurry around the corner before pulling them off again.

The saxophones wail "Blues in the Night" as the strippers go through their monotonous routines, peeling off first a glove, then a skirt, etc.

This is not burlesque as Americans reared in the Minsky and "I'm only joking" traditions, know it.

For one thing, London's strippers strip completely. In the dingy dives that have mushroomed overnight, absolute nudity is the rule. (When these same acts are booked in Paris, the girls must put on more clothes.) In Soho, the London nightlife district, the G-string is unknown.

Not all the strip-clubs are hole-in-the-alley dives. I recently dropped in at Raymond's Revuebar, a "registered club" which includes 10 MPs (members of Parliament), eight millionaires and 35 peers among its members.

You won't find anything so vulgar as a nude photo in the Revuebar's lobby. The carpets are ankle-deep; there are crystal chandeliers and fountains with a sizeable restaurant upstairs.

Expense account executives entertaining out-of-town buyers, make up the bulk of the audience. They apparently are drawn by a new whipping ace which features a nude being lashed by pirates on a slave ship.

Downstairs, I asked Paul Raymond, the 32-year-old owner, if he were not afraid that the police would eventually close his emporium as being lewd and obscene. (The British Home Office threatens to give police such power.)

"Not at all," he said. Raymond, who has pictures of his two children on the office walls, added, "There is nothing immoral or ugly about the female figure. Any evil is in the eye of the observer."

Stripping, Raymond said, is an art. "It is that art which separates it from pornography."

Raymond drives a maroon Bentley; he has a personal income of $5,600 a week. Next year, he will import Tempest Storm, "the girl who stopped the slot-machines," from Las Vegas. She will get $2,000 a week to thrill the three-telephone businessmen.

London's strip-tease industry is big business, netting its owners a cool $15 million a year.

Lord Stotham sees things differently from Raymond. In a recent House of Lords debate, he spoke out against "the registered club racket."

"Any person—a thief, thug, or murderer—can register a club," his lordship said.

All that is required is that the owner pay $14 for a liquor license and furnish the names of 25 persons interested in joining and the club "by-laws" which he can make up out of his own head.

In return, he is guaranteed immunity from police search without a warrant. He can serve liquor nine hours a day and stage nude entertainment without interference.

The Earl of Craven, whose family motto is "virtue consists in action," sums up what he believes has been the result of such British laws:

"Montmartre and the Place Pigalle in Paris offer the foreigner an obvious business proposition. But London is intimate; the offer is seductive and easy. The immediate and adult reaction is to fear for corrupted youth."

BOWLING BEAUTY

No. 3 — Fitting Out
By DEE PURCELLO
AMF Staff of Champions

You can't hope to bowl your best unless you have good shoes and the ball fits comfortably in the hand.

I suggest that a beginner use a house ball for a while to determine what weight and type best suits. After you have bowled a while and perhaps want to join a league, purchase a ball that is drilled out to fit the contours of the hand.

Bury the thumb in the ball, making certain you are able to move it easily. With the thumb still in the ball, extend the fingers over the finger holes, as I am doing in the picture. The middle joints should reach the inside edge of the holes, or be slightly past them.

To prevent possible injury to the fingers and to realize maximum results in rolling the ball, check carefully for the size of the thumb hole and for span, the distance between the thumb and finger holes.

Girl Critical After Vigil By Her Dead Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—Three-year-old Patricia McKiernan lay in critical condition in Misericordia Hospital today after a holiday ordeal of horror and starvation.

A Housing Authority patrolman found her Monday in a Bronx apartment, sitting by her mother's body, staring blankly and shivering.

Her mother, Jennie McKiernan, 33, lay on the floor. She had been dead for days of a heart attack.

The child was so emaciated and dehydrated she was unable to walk or talk.

A Christmas tree still sparkled with tinsel in the living room. Under it were Patricia's doll and other toys.

Patrolman James Fortuno took her to the hospital, where she was given clear soup and milk.

Fortuno had gone to the apartment at the request of relatives who knew of Mrs. McKiernan's heart condition and were worried because they had not been able to reach her. Mrs. McKiernan's husband died three years ago and she and Patricia lived on social security payments.

A medical examiner said Mrs. McKiernan had been dead at least five days.

Rose Queen Has Date With Star Washington Back

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The conquering football hero and the beauty queen dined and danced Monday night—almost like it happens in storybooks.

Only thing is, quarterback Bob Schloredt had that date with Rose Queen Carole Washburn lined up long before he led his Washington teammates to a 17-7 victory over Minnesota in the Rose Bowl.

Miss Washburn made that plain herself earlier in the day. After riding in the Tournament of Roses parade, the 18-year-old Pasadena City College coed confided to newsmen that she had a date with Schloredt in the evening—regardless of the outcome of the game.

She also disclosed that against the morning chill of the parade she wore something underneath her flimsy royal gown — Schloredt's football warm-up pants.

Schloredt and Miss Washburn met during preholiday excursions.

Little Things Vindicate Blue Devils

DALLAS (AP) — Lonesome end Tee Moorman, the toe of Art Browning and some little things turned into breaks vindicated Duke's angry Blue Devils with a 7-6 victory over Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

The dogged Blue Devils, driving to atone for defeats in their last two games of the regular season, waited until the clock had nearly run its course Monday before they rolled 73 yards for the touchdown that gave them the triumph in their first appearance in the Cotton Bowl.

For a month the lonesome end of Duke, a big fellow who lined up 15 yards away from his mates on every down, had been the major topic. Coach Frank Broyles had told how he feared this maneuver and how tough it would be to stop it.

Broyles was a soothsayer—it was the lonesome end, Moorman, who kept that desperate drive going and it was Moorman, a lonely man in the end zone, who caught Don Altman's nine-yard pass for the touchdown that broke Arkansas' heart.

Browning, the big guard, planted the ball between the goal posts for the point that won the game. It was more than Mickey Cissell, the Arkansas place-kicking ace, could do after the Arkansas touchdown. But Cissell had to contend with chunky Dave Unser, the surging Duke wingman. Unser smashed through to block the extra point effort and thwart Arkansas in its third try for victory in the Cotton Bowl.

The demonstrations followed clashes between Ethiopian troops and Somali tribesmen roaming in a disputed border area.

Soviet Planet Ends First Year in Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The first Soviet planet Mechta (Dream) launched Jan. 2, 1959, has covered a distance of 2.24 billion miles in its first year, Viktor Davydov, scientific secretary, of the State Astronomy Institute, reported today. The man-made planet is taking 450 days to complete one orbit around the sun, Davydov said.

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

The beginning of a new year—a time for appraisal and plans for improving ourselves, enlarging our outlooks and increasing our various means of enjoying life.

If you are earnestly and seriously interested in your safety, personal efficiency and general welfare, the Missouri Optometric Association takes this means of suggesting that you consider your eyes and visual functions in relation to what you may expect of the new year.

Next to life itself, our eyes and visual functions are of great importance to us. What we learn and what we earn depends normally upon vision in large measure. Our safety, our ability to achieve and our enjoyment of life in its fullness are closely associated with our sense of sight.

Can we, then, take vision for granted or neglect to give our eyes and visual functions the care and attention they deserve?

All who have had long experience in vision care believe that neglect and delay are the chief causes of impaired sight and acquired blindness. On the other hand, it is almost daily demonstrated that regular examinations of eyes and visual functions mean better and more efficient vision in the later years of life.

There is no guarantee that anyone can be so fortunate as to live out a long life with vision unimpaired. It is certain, however, that thought and care as expressed in the practice of having careful visual examinations at regular intervals is the best insurance of good sight for the years ahead.

Each of us may well ask ourselves at the beginning of this new year how long since we have had our eyes examined.

Robertson Is Making Cage History

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson is making history in the pro basketball ranks for the Cincinnati Royals.

The Big O is the first player, rookie or veteran, in National Basketball Association annals to make the NBA's top five in so many different phases of play at this stage of the season.

With half the season nearly completed, the springy, 6-foot-5 shooter-playmaker is first in assists (371 and 9.3 average per game), third in scoring (1217 points and 30.4 average), first in field goal percentage (.475), and fifth in foul shooting (.836 percentage), according to league statistics released today.

Robertson is not listed among the leaders in only one department — rebounds. Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia is high man with 970 and a 27.7 average per game.

Chamberlain still tops the loop scoring average with 36.7 points per game on 1,285 points in 35 games but trails Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers in total points. Baylor, who has played three more games than Wilt, has tallied 1,305 points in 38 games for a 34.3 average.

Legion, Auxiliary To Meet in Blackburn

The Seventh District American Legion and Auxiliary will meet Jan. 8 in Blackburn, Mo., starting at 1:30 p.m. with a joint meeting and oratorical contest in the High School gym.

The Auxiliary will later convene at the Legion Hall and will be joined later by the Legion for a social hour and refreshments.

All Legion and Auxiliary members are urged to attend.

To Hold Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Eckhoff, Cole Camp, will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, Jan. 8, with open house from 2 until 4 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

Government Will Continue After A Housing Rift

THE HAGUE (AP) — Premier Jan de Quay's coalition government is continuing in office after agreeing to provide 2,500 more subsidized houses as part of its housing program for 1961.

De Quay resigned 12 days ago after the two right-wing Protestant parties in his government demanded that the government increase its target of 80,000 homes for 1961 by an additional 5,000 subsidized dwellings.

The premier withdrew the resignation after the two factions compromised on 2,500 more houses.

Heart Attack Fatal To Past Royal Guard

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Thomas Plaistowe, 81, who once rode in the guard for Britain's royal family, is dead of a heart attack.

Plaistowe was a member of the guard for Queen Victoria, King Edward VII, Queen Mary and King George V before coming to the United States 36 years ago. He became a groom-farm manager for thoroughbred horseman Baylor O. Hickman of Louisville.

Bowl Games Hog Screens On Weekend

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stars of the New Year weekend television were, without any doubt, the college gridiron warriors whose struggles dominated the living room screens Saturday and Monday. By the time the Rose Bowl games finally hove into view, this reviewer had seen enough pileups, runs and kicks to last until next fall.

Over the long weekend there was also the premiere, on NBC, of a new opera, "Deseret," which had a fine production, good voices and agreeable if not memorable music. What it also had was an old television disease: script trouble. The plot skeleton was weak and nothing else was strong enough to overcome it.

Following the opera Sunday on NBC was another "Omnibus," this a sampling of what one may expect to see and hear in Manhattan's planned Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. It was a gentle, cultured hour of music, singing and dancing but had nothing of the stimulation we once expected from that program.

Monday morning's new audience participation show bowed in NBC's daytime "Say When." It was like a lot of other audience participation programs and sort of a reverse switch on "The Price Is Right," produced by the same people. It's the first new show of the new year—which isn't a very auspicious start. But maybe the housewives will like the show.

CBS' "The Gershwin Years" is turning out to be a real hard-luck show. First came Moss Hart's heart attack, which removed him as the host and narrator of the Jan. 15 90-minute special. Then Eileen Farrell, the opera star, walked out in a dispute over billing.

Producer Leland Hayward signed composer Richard Rodgers to replace Hart—and will play one Rodgers number amid the all-Gershwin scores. He recovered from the Farrell situation by nabbing Maurice Chevalier for the show—although Chevalier's relationship to Gershwin is pretty well limited to the fact he met him in Paris during the years on which the show is based.

But the toughest break of all came Dec. 5, when dancers and a technical crew went to a small island in New York's Jamaica Bay and taped the Catfish Row number of "Porgy and Bess," a number which nibbled about $10,000 from the show budget.

Somehow, the tapes got into the wrong bin at the network's tape processing center and half the sequence was accidentally erased.

To re-shoot the footage, the four dancers plus the crew—about 50 in all—must fly to Key West, Fla. Thursday. Snow and cold weather make it impossible to repeat locally, and the trip south will take another big, unanticipated bite out of the budget.

Recommended tonight: "The Twisted Cross," NBC, 10-11 EST—Re-run of an impressive Project 20 documentary on the rise of Adolf Hitler.

Leads Small In Slaying Of Girl, 13

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police had little to work with today in their search for the person who beat and strangled a 13-year-old girl Sunday.

The blood - smeared, partially clad body of Barbara Jean Black was found Monday lying beneath the van of a tractor trailer block from her home in South St. Louis.

Discovery ended an all night search by relatives, neighbors and police which began after Barbara failed to return home from a movie.

There was no medical evidence of rape. But police said she was clad only in a half-slip and pantie. Her short top coat had been dropped on her. Her white sweater and black, sequin - spangled skirt were placed near her head on the axle of a tractor-trailer truck parked in the lot where she was found.

The owner of the parking lot, Theodore Spinner, 72, found the body.

Barbara was the daughter of Mrs. Naomi Black, 36, and Richard H. Black, 39.

The victim and a 13-year-old friend had walked to a neighborhood theater.

Her friend and another 13-year-old girl, who joined them at the movie, left at the end of the four-hour show. Barbara said she wanted to "stay and see a little more."

When Barbara was not home by dark her mother started a search.

Police questioned more than two dozen persons in an effort to trace Barbara's movements after leaving the show. But they couldn't even locate anybody who remembered seeing her walk out.

Police planned a roundup of known sex offenders.

Approve Plans For Additional Residence Halls

COLUMBIA (AP)—Preliminary plans and specifications for two more campus residence halls to accommodate 512 men students have been approved by University of Missouri curators.

President Elmer Ellis said construction depends on whether sufficient funds can be obtained.

A federal loan of $1.8 will be sought initially, he explained, followed by sale of $250,000 in general revenue bonds and use of $425,000 in university funds, totaling $2,475,000.

Revenue from the halls would repay the loans.

Manslaughter Charge Filed Against Man

ARNOLD, Mo. (AP)—George Williams, 47, was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond today after being charged Monday with manslaughter in the death of his wife, Irene, 41, who died from burns over 80 per cent of her body.

Williams told Sheriff's deputies he and his wife got into an argument early Sunday after coming home from a New Year's party. He said he grabbed a five gallon can of gasoline and started pouring it on the basement floor, threatening to burn the house down. His wife grabbed the can, he said, and the gas was ignited when the automatic furnace switched on.

But Mrs. Williams, in a death bed declaration before witnesses, said her husband poured gasoline on her. She died late Sunday night in St. Joseph's hospital at Kirkwood.

Jefferson County Prosecuting Attorney B. Millett said he has asked for a Grand Jury investigation to determine whether Williams could be charged with murder.

St. Louis County Coroner Raymond I. Harris set an inquest for this afternoon.

The Williams' oldest daughter, Patricia, 18, summoned authorities when the fire broke out.

The Williams' have two other daughters, Georgia, 14, and Sidin, 18 months.

Williams suffered burns on his hands and feet in the incident.

Temperatures Fall As Cold Hits Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Biting cold weather held an icy grip on northern Midwest areas today, with temperatures again plunging far below zero.

For the second straight morning, the mercury dropped to more than 25 below zero in International Falls, Minn., as the cold air mass held over Minnesota, the eastern Dakotas and parts of Iowa and Wisconsin. It was -16 in Duluth, Minn.

Near seasonal readings were reported in other sections of the country. It was above freezing along the Pacific Coast, extreme southern parts of the Plateau and Rocky Mountain region, the Gulf Coast states, the Tennessee Valley and northward into the middle Atlantic Coast states.

Light snow fell in the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region southward throughout the Ohio Valley and eastward into the Appalachians. Snow on the ground in Pellston, Mich., measured 20 inches and it was nearly two feet deep in Caribou, Maine.

Finch and His Mistress Come To Trial Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his onetime Mistress Carole Tregoff come before the court today for their third trial on charges of murdering the doctor's estranged wife Barbara Jean in July 1959.

The juries deadlocked in two previous trials.

The scheduled appearance today of Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 24, centers around the physician's plea of double jeopardy. Last Dec. 12 the court held that this plea must be argued with the main issue, in the third trial, Superior Judge David Coleman on that ground, denied Finch a separate trial.

Mrs. Finch, 36, was shot to death at her suburban West Covina home. The state contends that she was slain in an effort to avoid an expensive divorce settlement.

Tempest puts safety-minded performance in a gas-saving 4!

(Range of horsepower choices from 110 to 155)

Take a Tempest out on the highway and put it through its paces. This car is a whiz at moving into fast-stepping company on an expressway. Takes you from a standing start to a safe operating speed in seconds . . . gets you up a steep hill in high gear.

Run the Tempest over the roughest road you can find. It rides like the big ones because it's balanced! The engine's up front—the transmission's in the rear. And it's got independent suspension at all four wheels. Tires dig in firm on curves and turns. Full 15-inch wheels make car look big. Tires last. Brakes run cooler.

Before it hit the market, Tempest had 3,000,000 miles of testing by engineers, pro drivers and a team of teenagers. Its reliability checked out 100%. Owners have rolled up millions more. The only kick is the one it puts back in driving. Try it!
